Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-13 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Figure 12 in view of Schisler et al (U. S. Patent no. 5,205,546).

The admitted prior art of figure 12 discloses all the limitations of the claim except for the lock mechanism to secure the diaphragm.

Schisler et al teaches a rotational lock mechanism to secure a diaphragm in a fluid mount (see figures 4 and 5 threaded retaining plate 94, diaphragm 88). Note, threads are projections.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a rotational lock mechanism as taught by Schisler et al in the device of Figure 12 in order to ease assembly. Using a rotational mechanism also increases the durability since no deformation occurs due to press fitting and it also enables the diaphragm to be replaced.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 12/27/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants have amended to state that the two pieces lock together without substantial axial movement. The term "substantial axial movement" is very broad and does not preclude a threaded connection. Furthermore, there are single turn threaded connection that move in the axial direction less than that which would be considered substantial under any reasonable interpretation. The applicants also claim that the parts must have long axial lengths. The examiner sees no support for this conclusion.

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

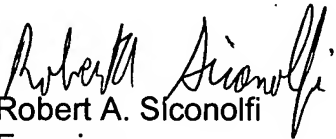

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
